Course Information

Course Description

MUS214 (Theory I): Diatonic melodic and harmonic practices involving analysis and 4-part writing. Species counterpoint, modes, triads, 7th chords, figured bass, nonharmonic tones, chord progressions, cadences.

This course will briefly review some of the fundamental concepts of music theory including intervals, key signatures, scale construction, triads and their inversions, and seventh chords. Students will be introduced to figured bass, triads and seventh chords in four-part harmony, cadence types, tonal chord progressions, nonharmonic tones, and the basics of species counterpoint.

Pre- and Co-Requisites

The pre-requisite for this class is either passing MUS110 (Fundamentals of Music) or receiving a passing score on the theory placement test. Additionally, you should be enrolled in MUSI112 (Piano I) if you have not already completed this class.

Textbook and Required Materials

- Clendinning and Marvin: Musician's Guide to Theory and Analysis, 3rd edition textbook, anthology, and Total Access code (All available as a package at HSU bookstore for $189.75)
- Staff paper and notebook paper
- Pencil (no pen, please)
- Binder for collecting class materials

Classroom Conduct

Students are expected to show professionalism in the classroom. Class will commence promptly at 9:00 am so plan to arrive a few minutes before the start of class (see attendance policy for more details). I expect that you will stay for the duration of the class, but if you need to leave class temporarily, please do so without asking, as quietly as possible. Students will come to class with the necessary course materials (e.g., homework, staff paper, textbook, etc.) and will turn off cell phones and other electronic devices and place them in a closed bag or case so that they are not a distraction to you or anyone else in class. Please remove ear-buds or headphones during class.

Attendance, Tardiness, and Make-Up Assessments

- Attendance in this class is mandatory. Students will be allowed three unexcused absences without penalty to their final grade. Each unexcused absence after the first three will result in the final grade being lowered one grade step (e.g. B+ to B)
- Students who arrive to class more than 5 minutes late or leave class early will be considered tardy. The accumulation of 3 tardies count as 1 unexcused absence.
- Missed quizzes and the midterm exam can only be made up for excused absences in extenuating circumstances (e.g. serious illness, death in the family) or Music Department events (e.g., competition, ensemble tour). Students will be required to provide some form of documentation for the absence (e.g., a doctor's note).
- Absences resulting from an unusual situation or other personal circumstance may be considered excused on a case-by-case basis. Please contact me as soon as possible to discuss your situation if this seems relevant to you.

If you are absent from class, it is your responsibility to: contact me as soon as possible and provide documentation (for an excused absence), get notes from a classmate, and print out any handouts or homework assignments from Moodle.

Homework

You should expect to have a homework assignment (either a written assignment or an InQuizitive) for nearly every class. As you work on the assignments, refer to your notes and the textbook, and as much as possible listen to the music you are writing or analyzing.

Due dates

Written homework assignments are always due at the beginning of class, while InQuizitives are due by the time listed online (usually by 8:30 am). Due dates for each assignment are listed below in the Course Schedule. Please do not leave homework assignments in my mailbox or drop them off at my office unless you're turning in an assignment early because you will be missing class because of a professional conflict (e.g. ensemble tour).

Late and Incomplete Homework

I will accept up to three homework assignments one class period late without penalty (e.g. if you don't turn in an assignment on Monday, you have to turn it in at the beginning of class on Wednesday of the same week). The following assignments, however, cannot be turned in late since the following class period is a holiday or class is canceled: HW# 4 (Labor Day), HW# 20 (SMT Conference), HW#22 (Veteran's Day), and HW#24 (Fall Break). If you hand in an assignment more than one class period late, or if you hand in a fourth late assignment, it will not receive credit (i.e. you will receive a 0). I do not accept homework that is less than approximately ³/₄ complete. Homework assignments are still due by the beginning of class even if you are absent. In that case, you may scan and email the assignment to me, or give it to another student to turn in, or use one of your three allowed late passes to turn in the assignment at the next class meeting.

Homework Revisions

If your homework assignment receives a grade less than 90%, you may revise the assignment once. The maximum score for re-do assignments will be 90% instead of 100%. Revisions must be completed on a new page, attached to the original assignment. Do not erase or write over the original. Revisions will be accepted up through two class periods after the assignment is returned in class (this will be maintained whether or not a student is in class the day the assignment is returned or if a student turned in the original assignment late).

Academic Honesty

There is a fine line between helping a classmate and cheating. Consider the following:

- Cheating occurs if two people compare every answer on an interval or chord-spelling assignment.
- Cheating has usually occurred if two people hand in identical part-writing assignments.
- Giving answers, or telling someone if something is correct is usually cheating.
- Cheating occurs if you ask to see another student's corrected homework assignment while you're re-doing the assignment.
- Helping occurs if two people review how to spell a chord or interval, practice together and then complete the assignment separately.
- Asking a student questions which will lead him/her to discover their mistake, or how to do something is always helping.

Quizzes

There will be several short quizzes to drill concepts and practice speed and fluency. Quizzes will take place promptly at the beginning of class. You can only make up a quiz if you have an excused absence (see attendance policy above).

Exams

Midterm Exam: in class on Friday Oct. 14. Final Exam: Wednesday December 14 from 8:00–9:50 am.

Incompletes

A grade of incomplete will be given only if the following conditions are met: 1) Near the end of the semester a severe illness or other catastrophe makes completing the semester's coursework impossible; 2) You request a grade of incomplete as soon as you realize that you will be unable to complete your coursework; 3) You are passing the course when you request the incomplete.
